Clarification of Graduation Requirement

I want to clarify the credit hour requirement for first-year Evening division students. Evening division students who entered in August, 1991 and who will graduate in June, 1995 or later will need only 87 credit hours to graduate.

All other currently enrolled students, including students who entered in the Evening division in Fall, 1991 and who graduate prior to June, 1995, will need 90 credit hours to graduate.

SUMMER SESSION REGISTRATION INFORMATION

Registration for the 1992 Summer session begins today. Evening students register today and tomorrow, April 6 and 7; Day students register Wednesday, April 8. Refer to the Registration Procedures bulletin available outside the cafeteria and in the Registrar's office.

Intellectual Property 1 added; Securities Regulation canceled

Intellectual Property 1: Patents and Trademarks has been added to the 1992 Summer schedule on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:00 p.m. to 8:10 p.m. This three-hour course will be taught by Prof. Port. Securities Regulation has been canceled for the Summer session.

Anthony G. Roeber (Contemporary American Legal History)

Mr. Roeber is a Professor of History at the University of Illinois at Chicago and has taught several legal and constitutional history courses at Chicago-Kent. He received his Ph.D. from Brown University in 1977.

Registration for Trial Advocacy

Two sections of Trial Advocacy I will be offered on Monday and Wednesday and one section on Tuesday and Thursday. A maximum of 12 students may enroll in each section. Eight spaces in each section are reserved for Day division students and four spaces are reserved for Evening division students.

There is an error in footnote 4 on the Summer schedule regarding section numbers. It should have read in part, "Day division students should register for section "01" or "02" and Evening students for section "51" or "52." Only day students may register for section 01 and section 02 as preferred or alternate section selections. Only evening students should register for sections 51 or 52 as preferred to alternate section selections.

If you want to take Trial Advocacy I in the Summer session, the correct section to register for is as follows:

Monday/Wednesday section:

Day students: 555-01-03

Evening students: 555-51-03

Tuesday/Thursday section:

Day students: 555-02-03

Evening students: 555-52-03

Description of Empirical Evidence (Prof. Kevin Smith)

Attorneys increasingly find that civil and criminal actions raise issues requiring a knowledge of social science methods and statistical techniques. Trademark litigation may involve the introduction of public opinion surveys to demonstrate consumer confusion. Statistical evidence may play a significant role in proving a violation of a federal job discrimination statute. Attorneys involved in complex litigation concerning large sums of money may retain jury selection experts (who have training in social science methods and statistics) at an average cost of $100,000 to $150,000 per case.

This two-hour course will examine basic social science research methods, social science theories, and statistical techniques and their application to civil and criminal actions. The course will focus on cases in which courts have grappled with the application of such methods, theories, and techniques. Cases will be supplemented with a variety of background materials. Because the focus of the course will be on practical application, problems will be used in which students will apply what they learn to practice situations.

The course will NOT be a course in research methods and statistics. All research methods and statistical techniques will be taught at an introductory level. A background in research methodology and statistics is not necessary.

Sample topics include: the jurisprudential origins of social science in law; basic social science research methods and statistical techniques; the use of social science methodology in trademark and discrimination litigation; the use of social science methodology and theories in constitutional litigation; and the use of social science methods and theories in choosing venue, a jury, and jury instructions.

There will be a paper in lieu of a final examination.

Trusts

Trusts will taught as a 3-hour course in the Summer session. It will be taught as a 2-hour course in the Day division during the Spring, 1993 semester and will not be offered in the Evening in the 1992-93 academic year.

CHANGING DIVISIONS

The list of students who received permission to transfer divisions is posted on the second floor administrative bulletin board. These students should submit their Fall semester registration form to the Registrar to obtain a new Fall semester priority number.

First-year Evening students who received permission to transfer to the Day division must take Justice & the Legal System and Civil Procedure 1 and 2 in the Evening division during the 1992-93 academic year. These students should see Dean Chapman to plan the rest of their schedules.

FALL, 1992 REGISTRATION INFORMATION

The registration instructions and final Fall, 1992 schedule of classes will be distributed this week. Registration for the Fall semester begins next Monday, April, 13.

Prof. Mintz will teach the Day division Evidence course at 11:45 a.m. on Monday and 10:40 a.m. on Wednesday and Friday. Other changes to the preliminary schedule will be set forth in the registration instructions.

Computer Law, Professor Ronald W. Staudt

This course explores areas of the law affected by the explosion of information technology in the last ten years. Specific areas covered include tort law, civil procedure with emphasis on discovery, criminal law, evidence, constitutional law focused on privacy issues, and copyright law. The materials for the course are available to students as printed materials, or in full-text computerized hypertext form.

Although this is a three credit course, the class will meet for only two hours a week. The third hour of the class will be a "lab" segment. Student teams will do research on a core case in each substantive area. The results of the research will be added to the electronic materials available to the entire class. Each team will investigate: 1) the factual controversy from which the case arose, 2) the tactical process of the trial and appeal, 3) industry practices and trends at the time the controversy arose, 4) the changes in the industry and lawyering triggered by the case and 5) collateral effects on the law. Primary materials and reports summarizing and synthesizing these developments will be added to the shared electronic course materials. The final result of the lab segment could be practitioner's guides to dealing with these issues, interactive lessons or study guides, or supplemental materials for the hypertext casebook that update and explore the particular area.

The course will be assigned to one of the computer-equipped classrooms and the instructor will attempt to make use of projection devices and distributed screens in the classroom to support the scheduled classes. In addition, we are trying to arrange for a loan of a supply of small computers to be used by the students in class and at home. We plan to offer remote access to the shared areas of the hypertext course materials to extend the dialogue of the course.

Interviewing and Counseling Course

(Omitted from preliminary schedule of fall 1992 classes)

Tuesday 4:00 p.m.-5:50 p.m. Two Credit Hours. Pass/fail.

This course combines classroom teaching with counseling clients at the Advice Desk located in the Daley Civic Center. Interviewing and counseling skills are the primary focus of the course. Students also study Illinois civil procedure and landlord/tenant law in order to represent Advice Desk clients in a competent manner.

Eligibility is limited to students who have received credit for at least 54 hours of course work (by fall semester) and are in good academic standing. See Illinois Supreme Court Rule 711.

After students complete the course they may apply to work at the Advice Desk. The current compensation is $10 per hour. For more information contact Clinical Instructor Ron Schwartz in room 611 or send him an E-mail message.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Law Week Highlights

Keynote Speaker Arthur Kinoy, the quintessential "people's lawyer."

Arthur Kinoy is a professor of law at Rutgers University. He has devoted his life to fighting for individuals and causes involved in the central legal and political issues of our time, invariably on behalf of those who could not otherwise obtain adequate legal representation.

In the 1950s, after a stint as associate general counsel of the United Electrical Workers Union, he went into private practice, where he devoted most of his time and talents to representing victims of Senator Joe McCarthy and the House Un-American Activities Committee.

In the 1960s, he turned his attention to the civil rights crusade in the South, representing at various times the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). He successfully litigated the landmark case of Dombrowski v. Pfister, in which the Supreme Court extended federal protections of First Amendment rights to civil rights workers.

It was during this period that Professor Kinoy, together with some of his colleagues from the Southern civil rights struggles, established the Center for Constitutional Rights, which has developed into one of the most significant public interest law centers in the country. At the same time he started the Constitutional Litigation Clinic at Rutgers University Law School, which has given students invaluable experience working on human rights issues.

In subsequent years, legions of Rutgers students assisted him in the preparation of other landmark Supreme Court victories, United States v. United States District Court, in which the Supreme Court rejected the claims of the Nixon Administration to "inherent power" to engage in unwarranted wiretapping, and Powell v. McCormick, holding unconstitutional the exclusion of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell from the U.S. House of Representatives.

Professor Kinoy, who has argued six times before the United States Supreme Court, also was appeals counsel in the successful appeal of the conviction of the Chicago 7 anti-war demonstrators.

Professor Kinoy's schedule besides the Law Day presentation includes a morning reception Friday, April 10, hosted by the Law Offices to discuss Professor's Kinoy's views on clinical education. He will teach Professor Nahmod's Constitutional Law III class on Monday at 10:40 a.m. and will teach Professor Harris' Constitutional Law II class at 1:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Hate Crimes Panel

On Tuesday, April 7, at 11:45 a.m., Decalogue Society, in conjunction with AALSA, BLSA, GAYLAW, HLSA, National Lawyers' Guild and Women in Law, will sponsor a panel discussion on the topic of Hate Crimes. The panel will address the concerns of hate crime victims as well as the issues of enforcement, free speech and hate crimes litigation.

Panelists will include: Michael Sandberg, Civil Rights Director of the Anti-Defamation League; Edward Johnson, Intergroup Relations Specialist for the Chicago Commission on Human Relations; Dewey Herrington, Special Assistant on Communal Relations and Economic Development for the Office of Chicago Alderman Bernard Hansen and Joy Yamasaki, Vice President of the Japanese American Citizen's League. The moderator for the discussion will be Professor Anna Marshall.

Dewey Herrington is chairman of the North Broadway Merchant's Association; advisor to the Lakeview East Chamber of Commerce; a steering committee officer of the Gay and Lesbian Advisory Council for the Chicago Police Department's Neighborhood Relations Division and the 23rd Police District's Beat Representative. He will be able to add some interesting insight into last week's altercation which resulted in the shooting of Ron Cayot after he left a gay bar. Herrington will provide a law enforcement perspective as well as provide comments on the activities of the Pink Angels.

Students and faculty are encouraged to attend. Pizza will be served. The event will be held in Rm. C40.

Letters of Recommendation

There is a widespread misconception of the proper way to set up merge letters for the letters of recommendation that many of you are requesting from the professors.

The following is the correct way:

The Honorable William Morse
Supreme Judicial Court of Maine
142 Federal Street
P.O. Box 368
Portland, Maine 04112-0368{END FIELD}
Judge Morse{END FIELD}
{END RECORD}

Notice there are only TWO END FIELD codes - at the end of the address and after the name for the salutation - and then an END RECORD. That is all that is needed.

Also, when setting up your list, please thoroughly proofread your document. There have been times where lists have included deceased judges, two different spellings of names or wrong addresses.

If the above format is not followed, students will be asked to redo the merge lists. If you have any questions, please contact Barbara Washington, Supervisor Faculty Secretaries, in Room 815, or e-mail BWASHINGTON.

Career Services Policies

Read the Record!

Each Chicago-Kent student using the Career Services Office is expected to read the Career Services Offices announcements in The Record. The Record is Chicago-Kent's official means of communicating with its students, and it is the primary means by which the Career Services Office communicates with students.

We've noticed that students are missing deadlines, registrations, and programs because they didn't read the Record. Our deadlines are firm. Not having read the Record is NOT an excuse for missing deadlines! It is your responsibility to read the Record! Because you are reading this, this message is probably a little bit like preaching to the choir, but be sure to communicate to your friends and classmates that we absolutely expect them to read The Record!

Counseling Appointments

We are anxious to meet with you to talk about your questions and concerns. We offer half hour counseling appointments so that you can meet with us and have the undivided attention you deserve.

Though we're glad to answer very quick questions on the spur of the moment, question such as "I need some tips on interviewing," or "I'm on my way to the print shop and I haven't revised my resume this year . . . could you help?" are not quick questions--they are complex questions that deserve a substantial answer. We encourage you to schedule an appointment so that we can provide you the best service possible!

Everyone interested is encouraged to apply and take advantage of this special opportunity.
